

Colleen Lindholz President Kroger Health

About Colleen:

As President of Kroger Health, the healthcare division of The Kroger Co., Colleen Lindholz oversees the company's pharmacy, clinical and nutrition operations and services including healthcare-related digital solutions and telehealth platforms. Kroger Health has over 2,200 pharmacies and 220 clinics across 35 states and serves more than 17 million customers annually.

She is the lead architect of the company's Food as Medicine strategy and a passionate believer in Kroger Health's vision to help people live healthier lives.

Colleen joined Kroger as a pharmacist in the Cincinnati/Dayton Division in 1995 and has held several pharmacy roles including manager, coordinator, sales promoter, recruiter and merchandiser. In 2013, she was promoted to Director of Pharmacy Sales and Marketing at Kroger's General Office followed by accepting the role of President and CEO of The Little Clinic, LLC in 2015. In April 2017, Colleen accepted a promotion to her current role as the first-ever President of the newly formed Kroger Health organization.

She is the recipient of Kroger's Chairman's Award, Kroger's Leadership Award and Progressive Grocer's Top Women in Grocery Rising Star Award and the Top Women in Grocery-Senior Level Executive (2025). In 2018, she was recognized as one of the Most Inspirational Female Leaders of the Year by the Break the Ceiling Women in Leadership Summit. In 2019, Colleen was named one of Eating Well Magazine's American Food Heroes and one of Forbes' Powerful Women Shaping the Future of Food. She was also recognized as one of Modern Healthcare's top women leaders in 2023 and an MMR Influential Woman in 2024 and 2025.

She is extremely active in her community and participates on the boards of many organizations including serving as the board chair for Easterseals Redwood, American Heart Association-Greater Cincinnati, National Association of Chain Drug Stores (NACDS), The Kroger Co. Foundation, Greater Cincinnati Behavioral Health, and the Joe Burrow Foundation Advisory board. Under her leadership, Kroger Health was named the 2022 Mass Market Retailer's Retailer of the Year and Kroger Family of Pharmacies were recognized as a 2025 Forbes Best Customer Service Company.
