

Phil Le-Brun

Executive in Residence and Author of The Octopus Organization
Amazon Web Services

About Phil:

Phil Le-Brun is an Executive in Residence at Amazon Web Services (AWS) and a former corporate VP and international CIO at McDonald's Corporation. At McDonald's he co-led the consolidation and modernization of technology across thirty-eight thousand restaurants globally. In his current role, Phil engages with Fortune 500 executives and their teams and with public-sector customers to mentor, advise, and guide them on their journeys to become more adaptable organisations. He is a sought-after speaker and has been featured in Harvard Business Review, the Wall Street Journal, and The Guardian. He is co-author of The Octopus Organization: A Guide to Thriving in a World of Continuous Transformation (Harvard Business Review Press). He now leads the Amazon Web Services Executives in Residence team, former commercial business leaders who advise Fortune 500 companies.